Project Portfolio: bit.ly/larrymillerdevABOUT

Seeking full-time remote role in web development or data analytics. I have web development experience using Python and Javascript, as well as SQL and R for data analytics. My background is in arts education, and I also have strong customer service experience. In programming, I value collaboration, communication, and a precise attention to detail. I recently completed Google's Data Analytics Professional Certificate. I am always looking to grow, and I am pursuing a masters degree in computer science.
